Army Test Chief Denies Anthrax Germs A Hazard

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The desert test center commander says it is true a plot of ground in Utah was sown with deadly anthrax germs in a 1954 biochemical warfare test, but denies the site is hazardous to animals or men.

A statement that the area is a continuing peril by a New York congressman was described by the commander, Brig. Gen. John G. Appel, as "a case of making a big thing out of nothing."

"The only way a person could possibly contract pulmonary anthrax at the site would be to dig into the dirt and eat it," said Appel.

Cooler Air Brings Storms To Mid-U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cool air rolled across the Great Plains today and ended the season's first outbreak of hot weather in the midcontinent.

Thunderstorms cracked along a cold front from the central Plains to the northern Great Lakes. Outbursts of wind and hail accompanied the storms.

A small tornado dipped into a backwoods resort area in Price County, in northern Wisconsin, late Wednesday and flung a small cabin across a road. The winds also knocked down power lines and numerous trees in the Butternut Lake area near Park Falls. No injuries were reported.

Another twister was sighted near Winona, in northwestern Kansas, but there were no reports of damage. Hail peppered parts of Minnesota.

Despite the cooling trend in the Plains, warm weather remained through the night in most of the Midwest and extended milder temperatures eastward to the Atlantic. Overnight lows in the 70s were widespread.

The mercury soared to 100 Wednesday at Marquette, Mich., on the southern shore of Lake Superior to give that city its hottest day on record for May. Minneapolis-St. Paul sized up to 95 and Chicago recorded 92, a record for the date.

Outside the midcontinent storm belt, showers damped coastal sections of the Pacific Northwest and portions of the Deep South.

Tougher Fair Housing Bill Passes House

Injunctive Relief Now Included For Ohioans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A person allegedly discriminated against will be able to seek injunctive relief under an open housing bill adopted by the Ohio House Wednesday.

Under the bill, a common pleas court could order a property owner to not rent or sell a certain apartment or home during the time the Ohio Civil Rights Commission investigates a housing discrimination complaint.

The court also could provide injunctive relief if it finds that a discriminatory housing practice "is about to occur."

But the catch to this is that the court could ask the complainant to post a bond which he might not be able to afford and which he would lose if his complaint of discrimination was found to be invalid.

The provision for injunctive relief was added to the bill in a six-page amendment sponsored by Rep. Allen J. Bortunek R-54 Cleveland Heights. The vote was 62-30.

Ironically, it was a similar amendment that killed the bill by a 49-36 vote May 15. Eight of the ten Negro representatives voted against the bill because they said without the amendment it had no "teeth."

But Wednesday after an hour's debate the amendment was passed and the bill was sent to the Senate by a 75-17 vote.

The present law prohibits discrimination in the sale or rental of housing but exempts personal residences — including two-family homes — that are owner occupied.

The bill also makes the denial of participation in multiple listing services or other real estate organizations unlawful discriminatory practices.

It prohibits coercion, intimidation, threats or interference with realtors or other persons attempting to secure housing for individuals on a nondiscriminatory basis.

The bill is slightly stronger than the 1968 federal housing law and upholds recent court decisions on housing.

Roundtown

THE HERALD will join millions of Americans throughout the nation in paying tribute to those who have died defending our country and our way of life.

There will be no paper published on Memorial Day.

All city, county, state and federal offices, financial institutions and many of the businesses in Roundtown will be closed Friday.

MEMBERS of the 121st Air National Guard, activated and sent to Korea during the Pueblo capture incident, are beginning to return to their homes. There were a number of Circleville and Pickaway County men in the unit.

Viet Red Strategy Meeting Smashed By U.S. Attacks

School Integration In South Pushed

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — More public school integration in September for the Deep South is expected in the wake of a federal appeals court directive that school boards "act affirmatively to abolish all vestiges of state-imposed segregation of the races."

"Integration of faculty is of equal importance," added the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in a decision Wednesday emphasizing that the freedom-of-choice method of school desegregation must show results now or be replaced by another method.

Some lower federal courts in the 5th Circuit—Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and the Canal Zone—already have told school boards to abandon freedom-of-choice in favor of more workable plans to end their dual school systems.

The ruling by the New Orleans-based 5th Circuit came a year after the May 28, 1968 U.S. Supreme Court decision saying school boards must "come forward with a plan that promises realistically to work, and promises realistically to work now."

Guidelines for school integration cases laid down by the 5th Circuit are usually embraced by other circuit courts.

The court Wednesday told 37 Louisiana districts where freedom-of-choice plans had been approved by lower federal courts that new plans "shall be completed and approved" by July 25.

"Unquestionably as now constituted administered and operating in these districts freedom-of-choice is not effectual," said the appeals court.

Freedom of choice lets a pupil decide which school to attend. Bill Dodd, the state education superintendent, said the decision "will have a very, very bad effect on public schools."

Educators, not lawyers and judges, should decide the best methods of achieving unitary systems, said Dodd.

Allies Ignore Enemy-Called 'Cease-Fire'

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. forces crashed an enemy strategy meeting 23 miles northwest of Saigon today during a 48-hour cease-fire the Viet Cong had proclaimed in honor of Buddha's birthday.

The enemy cease-fire began at 7 a.m. Allied forces were to start a 24-hour truce period at 6 a.m. Friday (6 p.m. EST Thursday). Meanwhile, more than 50 allied operations of battalion size or larger continued without letup.

At least 50 Viet Cong were reported killed in the action northwest of Saigon. Initial reports said one American was killed and seven wounded.

"They were congregating in there for their stand-down period," said a U.S. military spokesman. "We had intelligence information they were going to be in there for a meeting to plan actions for their summer campaign next month. We weren't standing down."

More than 700 infantrymen from the U.S. 25th Division, some riding tanks and armored personnel carriers, maneuvered to seal off the enemy force. Two personnel carriers were reported damaged.

Air Force fighter-bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery pummeled the dug-in Viet Cong until dusk when the fighting tapered off. Twenty-seven AK47 assault rifles and nine rocket launchers were captured.

One prisoner was taken and told interrogators the Viet Cong heard the loudspeaker warning. But he said they figured only a small force—perhaps a platoon sent in, and the Viet Cong planned to ambush them.

South Vietnamese headquarters said it had received no reports of major Viet Cong violations of their cease-fire by mid-afternoon, but a spokesman emphasized that he expected there would be some. During the last cease-fire for Buddha's birthday in 1967, the U.S. Command accused the Viet Cong of 17 violations in which 12 Americans were killed and 57 wounded. There was no cease-fire in 1968 because the Communist Command was waging an offensive.

The allied command also announced that casualties last week receded from the high level of the week before, with 265 Americans, 413 South Vietnamese government troops and 3,968 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese reported killed in action. The totals the week before were 430 Americans, 527 South Vietnamese and 5,715 enemy.

A total of 1,563 Americans were reported wounded last week, compared with 2,185 the week before.

The U.S. Command reported 11 enemy rocket and mortar attacks that caused casualties or damage during the night prior to the start of the Viet Cong cease-fire. The command said casualties and damage were light over-all.

Officer Charged In Wife's Death

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Police have charged one of their own with a fatal shooting.

David Janiszewski, 26, a four-year veteran of the Toledo Police Department, was charged with second-degree murder in the fatal shooting of his 22-year-old wife, Joann.

Police say the young woman was fatally wounded at her home Wednesday with Janiszewski's service revolver.

He was scheduled for a court appearance today.

Fight Over Civil Rights Hurts GOP Bid For Negroes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican party has stepped up efforts to recruit black supporters at a time the Nixon administration is reported in a dispute over a move to scrap a law credited with increasing Negro voting in the South.

While the backstage battle over the 1965 Voting Rights Act reportedly is going on at the White House, Republican National Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton says he has taken a first step toward trying to enlist more blacks in GOP ranks.

He said Clarence L. Townes Jr., a Negro, had been designated "to serve on our new internal political management team and become the chief advisor on matters affecting black citizens in our newly-created communications division."

The 1965 act, which is aimed specifically at seven Southern states, will lapse if not renewed by Congress before Aug. 6, 1970. President Nixon has said he favors a new law that would have nationwide application.

This is the same stand taken by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., who gave Nixon a big boost in his drive for the presidency. However, supporters of the 1965 act would rather see it lapse than have the Thurmond-backed approach go into effect.

Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the NAACP, said Wednesday he and other civil rights leaders have been trying to win the White House over to the current law.

"I believe a great part of the problem is that Sen. Thurmond is putting pressure on the administration to make them produce a bill that would in effect be a Thurmond bill," Mitchell said.

He said Thurmond, acting through his former assistant Harry Dent, now a top White House aide, insists that Nixon live up to his campaign pledge that he would not favor any regional legislation.

The problem of what to do about the voting law caused administration officials to cancel two appearances before the House Judiciary Committee. The committee is now due to hear the Nixon administration recommendation June 5.

The 1965 act, one of the key civil rights measures of the Johnson administration, was aimed at Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia, and parts of North Carolina. Since enactment, the number of Negroes registered and voting in the United States has shot up and Negroes have been elected to office in several communities.

Red Cross Board Discusses Budget With Fund Officers

Pickaway County Community Fund Chairman Bill Champion and Ben Brian, vice chairman, met with Pickaway County Red Cross Board members Wednesday night at the chapter house.

The 1970 Red Cross budget which had previously been submitted to Community Fund involved a seven per cent increase which Red Cross Chairman Howard Judd noted was in line with expenses incurred. It was not approved by Community Fund officials.

Champion informed board members that most agencies of Community Fund had asked for an increased budget and although the Community Fund goal for 1970 was also increased, the request of Red Cross budget committee members "simply could not fit in with the goal." Vice chairman Brian added that "it is hard to explain the need for an increase in funds when you are asking for money" (from those who support Community Fund).

Red Cross board members who serve on the budget committee will reconvene to discuss possible alternatives to the proposed budget reduction. All Red Cross board members feel that the Red Cross program is vital to the community.

EVERY person of Pickaway County could be a recipient of Red Cross services. It would be the community's loss to be forced to curtail any part of the program or services provided by the local Red Cross chapter. Monies through Community Fund are used locally to give service to the military and their families, for the blood program, disaster, first aid and water safety program, public information, volunteer services, youth program, public information, the supplies, operating facilities and general management.

Following the discussion with Community Fund chairman, the regular monthly business session of Red Cross board members was held.

The Red Cross Water Safety Program schedule was reviewed by Mike Alkire, chairman. He repeated the request that persons wishing to register for the 1969 program do so by coming to the chapter house at 167 Watt St.

Registrants are requested not to phone. The number of incoming phone calls concerning the swim program would prohibit use of the phone to persons in need of service wishing to contact Red Cross headquarters.

The Red Cross swimming program is the only such program offered for residents of Pickaway County. The need of the program increases as additional swimming facilities are made available throughout the county with the proposed addition of swimming areas at A. W. Marion State Park and Deer Creek Reservoir.

As chairman of Red Cross Board, Howard Judd accepted the resignation of Dr. Robert Smith as a board member. Dr. Smith has served for many years as medical adviser to the board. No new appointment was made.

Brown Files Habeas Writ In Local Court

A writ of habeas corpus has been filed by Lawrence Brown, charged with ten counts of writing bad checks, with the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Thursday morning.

Brown was jailed Nov. 11, 1968 on eight charges of writing bad checks and two charges of larceny by trick while posing as a local dentist.

In addition to the writ, Brown has filed an affidavit charging Judge William Ammer with prejudice and bias. The new addition brings the affidavit filed by Brown to 26 pages. The affidavit is forwarded to the Ohio Supreme Court for review.

If the Supreme Court takes no action on the affidavit of prejudice and bias, Judge Ammer will preside at Brown's trial.

IN his writ of habeas corpus, Brown alleges that he is being improperly confined and wrongly treated.

The defendant was recently transferred to Fayette County Jail by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff because he had become a disciplinary problem at the local jail according to the sheriff.

Brown stated in his writ that Radcliff transferred him on presumptive and circumstantial evidence and that the sheriff has lied regarding his behavior.

Sheriff Radcliff was responsible for a sanity test at Lima State Mental Hospital, according to Brown.

The reason for the sanity hearing and the bad treatment is to intimidate him into not defending himself in a trial and to not "expose" the acts of the sheriff, according to Brown's writ.

Government Probes Accident Rate Of Army Vehicle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is making an unprecedented inquiry into the performance of one of the Army's best-known vehicles which statistics show has killed or injured thousands of American soldiers.

The investigation of the familiar, jeep-type M151 truck will be conducted by the National Highway Safety Bureau.

A spokesman said it is the first time the bureau has looked into the safety of vehicles purchased by the armed services.

The Army has purchased 123,017 of the M151s from Ford Motor Co. since 1960, at an aggregate cost of nearly $400 million.

Because of its independent rear-wheel suspension, the M151 rides more smoothly than its predecessors.

But it also tends to tip over. Incomplete Army statistics show hundreds of soldiers have been killed and thousands disabled since the vehicle came into service.

"We just didn't see it (the stability problem) in the testing and early use of the M151," a civilian engineer on the M151 project said. "When the accident reports began coming in, we tried a number of gimmicks at the testing level, but none of them helped."

Instead, the Army instituted a thorough driver-training program to orient the young enlisted men to the peculiarities of the sturdy little vehicle. Training manuals, Army circulars, and a hair-raising 12-minute training film, in color, were ordered for all M151 drivers.

The M151's problem is called "oversteer," the same situation that made Chevrolet's Corvair a national issue several years ago. Because of the suspension system, the Army tells its drivers, the rear wheels tend to slide away from the direction of a turn, even at low speeds.

Contrary to the ordinary training received in civilian life, the M151 driver must steer away from the direction of the turn.

"A situation necessitating this correction should be avoided," the Army instructions caution. "Acceleration must be reduced to maintain control."

The Army reports its driver-training campaign cut deep into the fatality and accident rate—particularly in Western Europe, where the problem seemed greatest.

But in the fiscal year 1967, the Army totaled 3,538 accidents worldwide involving the M151, with 104 GIs killed, 1,858 injured.

While the National Safety Council reported only 1.6 per cent of all domestic traffic accidents resulting from overturned vehicles, the Army found that 36 per cent of its M151 mishaps resulted from the truck's overturning without a collision.

Calling the M151 turnover situation deplorable, an official said the safety bureau is looking into the problem so the auto industry cannot accuse the government of adopting a "Do as we say and not as we do" position.

The Army said it is currently testing a modified M151 with a new, safer rear suspension system.

The modification involves a device long known to the auto industry—a "semitrailing arm rear suspension system." But even if it proves acceptable, the current Army contract with Ford for M151s does not expire until December 1970. And the M151s are sturdy enough to last for years after that.

Army officials say they never considered recalling the M151s to fit them with safer suspension systems. The reason:

"The M151 has a unitized body. Removing the welds and adding a new suspension system could weaken the structure and end up by having a hazardous vehicle."

School Integration In South Pushed

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — More public school integration in September for the Deep South is expected in the wake of a federal appeals court directive that school boards "act affirmatively to abolish all vestiges of state-imposed segregation of the races."

The allied command also announced that casualties last week receded from the high level of the week before, with 285 Americans, 413 South Vietnamese government troops and 3,968 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese reported killed in action. The totals the week before were 430 Americans, 527 South Vietnamese and 5,715 enemy.

A total of 1,863 Americans were reported wounded last week, compared with 2,385 the week before.

The U.S. Command reported 11 enemy rocket and mortar attacks that caused casualties or damage during the night prior to the start of the Viet Cong cease-fire. The command said casualties and damage were light over-all.

Officer Charged In Wife's Death

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Police have charged one of their own with a fatal shooting.

David Janiszewski, 26, a four-year veteran of the Toledo Police Department, was charged with second-degree murder in the fatal shooting of his 22-year-old wife, Joann.

Police say the young woman was fatally wounded at her home Wednesday with Janiszewski's service revolver.

He was scheduled for a court appearance today.

Government Probes Accident Rate Of Army Vehicle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is making an unprecedented inquiry into the performance of one of the Army's best-known vehicles which statistics show has killed or injured thousands of American soldiers.

The investigation of the familiar, jeep-type M151 truck will be conducted by the National Highway Safety Bureau.

A spokesman said it is the first time the bureau has looked into the safety of vehicles purchased by the armed services.

The Army has purchased 123,017 of the M151s from Ford Motor Co. since 1960, at an aggregate cost of nearly $400 million.

Because of its independent rear-wheel suspension, the M151 rides more smoothly than its predecessors.

But it also tends to tip over. Incomplete Army statistics show hundreds of soldiers have been killed and thousands disabled since the vehicle came into service.

"We just didn't see it (the stability problem) in the testing and early use of the M151," a civilian engineer on the M151 project said. "When the accident reports began coming in, we tried a number of gimmicks at the testing level, but none of

Instead, the Army instituted a thorough driver-training program to orient the young enlisted men to the peculiarities of the sturdy little vehicle. Training manuals, Army circulars, and a hair-raising 12-minute training film, in color, were ordered for all M151 drivers.

The M151's problem is called "oversteer," the same situation that made Chevrolet's Corvair a national issue several years ago. Because of the suspension system, the Army tells its drivers, the rear wheels tend to slide away from the direction of a turn, even at low speeds.

Contrary to the ordinary training received in civilian life, the M151 driver must steer away from the direction of the turn.

"A situation necessitating this correction should be avoided," the Army instructions caution. "Acceleration must be reduced to maintain control."

The Army reports its driver-training campaign cut deep into the fatality and accident rate—particularly in Western Europe, where the problem seemed greatest.

But in the fiscal year 1967, the Army totaled 3,538 accidents worldwide involving the M151, with 104 GIs killed, 1,858 injured.

While the National Safety Council reported only 1.6 per cent of all domestic traffic accidents resulting from overturned vehicles, the Army found that 36 per cent of its M151 mishaps resulted from the truck's overturning without a collision.

Calling the M151 turnover situation deplorable, an official said the safety bureau is looking into the problem so the auto industry cannot accuse the government of adopting a "Do as we say and not as we do" position.

The Army said it is currently testing a modified M151 with a new, safer rear suspension system.

The modification involves a device long known to the auto industry—a "semitrailing arm rear suspension system." But even if it proves acceptable, the current Army contract with Ford for M151s does not expire until December 1970. And the M151s are sturdy enough to last for years after that.

Army officials say they never considered recalling the M151s to fit them with safer suspension systems. The reason: "The M151 has a unitized body. Removing the welds and adding a new suspension system could weaken the structure and end up by having a hazardous vehicle."

Berger Nurses To Get Wage Increase; Others Under Study

Wage increases were granted to nursing service personnel of Berger Hospital Tuesday night by the hospital's Board of Governors.

The decision to upgrade the scale came sometime after midnight following a lengthy discussion, which was preceded by a three-hour meeting and recommendation of the Finance Committee headed by Harry Clifton Jr.

Although the board finally agreed upon an increase for minimum pay, another meeting has been slated for Wednesday to work out details of individual adjustments.

James Stambaugh, administrator, noted that the hospital to date was operating within its budget and adjustments in other personnel areas would be forthcoming.

HE termed the situation in nursing service "critical" since the hospital is nearly relying on part-time help in nursing. He reported to the board that only seven full-time registered nurses are now employed while 28 are on a part-time basis.

The scale under consideration may include and recognize merit and service increments.

Two proposals for fringe benefits for hospital employees were referred to committee for further study. Stambaugh proposed that full-time employees be given a discount when hospital services are used personally by the employees.

The administrator's other fringe benefit proposal was free use of emergency room time for all employees. He said that drugs, dressings, etc., would still be billed, but the fee for use of the emergency room should be "a fringe benefit."

The Pickaway Speedway, located near Laurelville, cropped into the board's agenda again. The medical staff had gone on record as refusing to treat individuals injured in speedway accidents. The staff claimed they had enough emergency room patients injured in unavoidable accidents without taking on the added responsibility.

Stambaugh told the board the drag strip was under new management, had a new operation and was insured.

IT WAS indicated that the staff was not going to change its policy. Dr. H. H. Swope, chief of staff, pointed out that the track was being operated for a profit and they should hire their own physician. Dr. Swope said the track operation is no different than an athletic team or industry. . . . Where there's a better than average risk of injury, a doctor should be employed.

Mayor Richard L. Gerhardt, president, told the board he was "shocked" to learn of the staff and board attitude. He said he couldn't understand any hospital or doctor refusing to treat a patient regardless of how they were injured.

The discussion was cut short and a meeting is to be scheduled between the track owner and Joint Conference Committee.

In other action, Russ Palm was elected to the first vice chairman's position on the board while Harry Clifton Jr. was named second vice chairman.

Eagle Scout Honored At St. Joseph's

BILL SNOOK

Eagle Scout William Snook was presented the Ad Altare Dei award by Monsignor Joseph McGlynn at St. Joseph Catholic Church Sunday.

This religious award recognizes advancement in the Catholic doctrine and practice, paralleling his advancement through the ranks of Boy Scouts. The purpose of this award is to encourage a Boy Scout in the faithful performance of duty with the religious service and to broaden his horizon and association with the teachings of his home, school and church.

William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Snook, 615 Garden Parkway and is a member of Boy Scout Troop 205 and Order of the Arrow, a service organization of the Boy Scouts.

He received the Eagle Award, highest scouting rank, earlier this year and has been active in scouting for four years.

Teays Valley Board Okays List Of Graduating Seniors

The certified list of Teays Valley High School seniors presented by Richard Snider, principal, was approved during a recent board of education meeting pending the completion of the necessary graduation requirements as set forth by the State Department of Education and the Local Teays Valley Board of Education.

Approval was given for qualified students to attend the Eastland Vocational School next year, with tuition paid by the Teays Valley Board of Education, with the exception of $125 per school year to be paid by the parents. Transportation will be furnished by the parents.

The board interviewed representatives from various furnace companies and from the gas company. After due consideration, the board decided to install two conversion gas burners at Walnut and blank sufficient tubes to comply with state code to eliminate the need for a full-time fireman. It is the intention of the board to convert at least a part of the present heating system at Scioto to gas when feasible. The board requested that the "repair and replace" insurance be added to the coverage of the boilers. Resignations were received from the following teachers: Judith Ridzon, Barbara Borthwick, Beverly Brinker, Barbara Baker, Rosalie Rheinsfeld and Patricia Ryerson Bartosik.

Summer Driver Training was approved. Robert Hoover will be the instructor and the course will run for a period of six weeks. Any adults interested in taking the course will pay at the rate of $25 plus a $5 fee to cover expenses involved.

The Title I program for the summer was approved for the elementary schools and the director was authorized to proceed with the program at the high school level if it is ascertained that enough students are eligible to make the program worthwhile.

The following teachers were approved for the remedial reading program for the elementary schools: Marjorie Pickering, Mary Scothorn, Betty Stir, Anna Towler, Elizabeth Beatty and Barbara Throp.

The speech and hearing therapist will be Miss Karen Predmore. The cook will be Mary Kaiser, the custodian will be Bill Hettinger, the secretary Mrs. Vause and the bus drivers will be Janet Hutchins and Albert Friend. Howard Weaver has already been approved as counselor, Cooper as the evaluator and Sheets as the director.

The following teachers were employed for the 1969-70 school year: James E. Wells, C. Ray Noecker, Barbara Kibby, Donna Harmount, Evelyn Grace and Gary Rees.

A resignation was received from Mary Owens, a cook at the high school. Mrs. Dolores Derr was employed to fill the vacancy.

The request received from Jack Melvin that he be relieved of his duties during the months of June, July and August was approved and Jack Adkins was employed in his place.

Charles Thomas and Gregg Hall were employed for summer work in the schools. The following enumerators were employed for the purpose of taking the enumeration from ages six down to birth: Peg Essick, Ashville; Eva Ett, Walnut; Florence Swoyer, Harrison; Patsy Hastings, Scioto; Bernice George, South Bloomfield; Helen Chenoweth, Madison.

The board purchased one square buffing machine for the district. A donation of $300 was accepted from the Walnut PTA toward a new ceiling in the Walnut cafeteria. Bids are to be secured for this work.

Non-teaching personnel employed includes: Carmen Dounts, Scioto secretary; Betty Heffner, Walnut secretary; Virgie Vause, Ashville secretary; Patricia Pontious, High School secretary; William Hoover, High School custodian; Charles Ward, Ashville custodian; Leslie Melvin, Scioto Custodian; Jack Melvin, Scioto custodian; Dwight Johnson, Walnut custodian; Belva Hollis, Part-time High School; Florence Collins, Part-time High School; Alice Hoover, High school cook; Mildred Morfison, High school cook; Marie Cremons, High school cook; Mary Kaiser, Ashville cook; Lucille Hickman, Scioto cook; Kathleen Hudson, Scioto cook; Irene Williams, Scioto cook; Della Sykes, Walnut cook; Wilhelmina Drum, Walnut cook; Kenneth Riegel, District maintenance.

Bus drivers employed are: Mrs. Richard Ballard, Ernest Barr, John Barr, Leslie Cook, James Finch, Albert Friend, Norma Gochenour, Joe Hoover, Janet Hutchins, Warren Kinsell.

Edward Kuhlwein, George Lawless, Frances Moss, Gordon Perrill, John Sabine, Dale Schiff, Wilbur Warner, Martha Wells, Ralph Woolever.

Berger Nurses To Get Wage Increase; Others Under Study

Wage increases were granted to nursing service personnel of Berger Hospital Tuesday night by the hospital's Board of Governors.

The decision to upgrade the scale came sometime after midnight following a lengthy discussion, which was preceded by a three-hour meeting and recommendation of the Finance Committee headed by Harry Clifton Jr.

Although the board finally agreed upon an increase for minimum pay, another meeting has been slated for Wednesday to work out details of individual adjustments.

Two proposals for fringe benefits for hospital employees were referred to committee for further study. Stambaugh proposed that full-time employees be given a discount when hospital services are used personally by the employees.

The administrator's other fringe benefit proposal was free use of emergency room time for all employees. He said that drugs, dressings, etc., would still be billed, but the fee for use of the emergency room should be "a fringe benefit."

The discussion was cut short and a meeting is to be scheduled between the track owner and Joint Conference Committee.

In other action, Russ Palm was elected to the first vice chairman's position on the board while Harry Clifton Jr. was named second vice chairman.

Robert Huffer, new board member, explained provisions of the last will and testament of the late Mrs. Peter Kelzach (Oneida Mebs). Huffer said the hospital would receive the residue of the estate after three life estates expire as provided by the will.

A request by property owners east of the hospital to purchase a 50 by 400 foot tract of hospital-owned land was turned down. The board did, however, indicate the area could be used as a lawn by the residents. The unofficial action limited the use by prohibiting fences, shrubs, playground equipment or anything that would produce a liability or break the continuity of the open area.

Mrs. Robert McKelvey, new president of Berger Hospital General Guild, attended her first session of the board. She noted that a Garden Guild is being organized and asked if the group would have board sanction to assist in maintaining the grounds. The board concurred it would be an invaluable service and encouraged the organization of the guild.

and Mrs. Wayne A. Ewing of Springfield, Ohio. His father is a doctor of theology, and a teaching missionary for the Lutheran Church in America.

Peter's worsening asthma caused the family to return to the United States from Singapore in 1968. Dr. Ewing now is a visiting professor at the Hamma School of Theology in Springfield. Peter's near fatal attacks of asthma resulted in his coming to Denver early this month as a patient in a new section of Children's Asthma Research Institute and Hospital (CARIH), the largest such facility in the Western Hemisphere.

The airtight plethysmograph helps determine just how severely lung function has been impaired, said Dr. Hyman Chai, director of hospital services.

Confined in the chamber with its fixed volume of air, the youngsters breathe through a device that feeds measurements of pressure and volume outside to a console, where readings permit quick calculation of lung function.

The device also is used by physicians to measure the effectiveness of therapy. "I can see whether what I'm doing is really working," said Dr. Chai. "We can't rely on the subjective reporting by the child."

"If they're planning to go bowling, they may be wheezing and still say they feel fine," he said.

CARIH, with 165 beds, provides free treatment and care for children from throughout the United States who suffer from chronic and unmanageable asthma. Researchers here also are looking for the causes of asthma and other allergic diseases.

While nine of 10 children improve under medical supervision, it is estimated there are 300,000 children with severe constrictions of airways. CARIH estimates 80 per cent of the severely afflicted patients it treats either improve so that little medication is required or become asthma free. Virtually all the others improve enough to attend school regularly and participate in most normal childhood activities.

Garbage Strike Swamps Romans

ROME (AP) — Garbage, junk and refuse began piling up again Wednesday in the streets of Rome as street cleaners started a three-day strike, demanding that more of them be hired.

The garbage was piling up in sweltering heat as the temperature rose to 86 degrees.

Romans complained and tourists criticized. But the street cleaners' union said 700 street sweepers and 1,400 garbage collectors cannot keep a city of almost 3 million people clean.

Early Vacations

Conversation in almost any group now turns to vacations. Thereupon those who have already had theirs discover that they are on the outside looking in. That is because for them it is all over. But secretly they resolve that next year they will take theirs in late summer if they can manage it.

They are permitted to put in a word or two. They can report on conditions they found them. If they went to a resort where someone else is going, they can report whether $10 a day — formerly $5 — accommodations are now $20 or $25.

But the others are looking ahead to the outings awaiting them. That is what they want to talk about. They may listen politely to the early bird's account of what he did, and laugh at some of his observations, but their minds are elsewhere.

Whether anticipation is better than realization, or vice versa, a vacation still to come is more interesting to the one who is going to have it than a vacation someone else has had.

The Public Decides

In the relatively short life span of the automotive industry, 3,000 makes have disappeared in the United States. The latest, Corvair, serves as a reminder that even in a market which seems unable to support any but the largest manufacturers of automobiles, there is no guarantee that the largest of all will always produce a winner.

The Corvair had loyal owners and for a few years achieved popularity in sales, but in its last model year these dropped to 10,000.

This is the point to be remembered.

It is not the company which makes it, no matter how large it is or how much it spends on promotion, which decides the success or failure of a product in the market place.

The giants, no less than the small entrepreneurs, must depend upon the consumer for the final verdict.

As it has done innumerable times before, the public has made the final decision in the market. Though tinged with a little sadness, that decision is one of the signs of a healthy and free economy.

Want Ads Serve

A phenomenal development of the advertising world has been the upsurge in classified advertising in daily newspapers. Never before have so many of these little ads served millions so well. Classified advertising has been described as the world's greatest market of services.

Free enterprise thrives on advertising, in fact each complements the other. Want ads bring buyer and seller of goods and services together, efficiently and quickly and economically.

Among a newspaper's many services, none is more far-reaching than the mighty little want ad which makes available to everyone all the pulling power of the printed word delivered to the home of the community.

The Business World

By LISA CRONIN (For John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — The militant minority may occupy the campus building and the headlines, but today's average college man attends classes, goes to church and plans to get ahead just as his father did a quarter of a century ago.

Not only are brick-throwing dissidents rare among today's college population, but most students say American society is "basically sound." Only 9 per cent of all students could be classed as "revolutionaries," believing that existing institutions should be scrapped and replaced.

So reports a nationwide survey of student and alumni attitudes conducted by Roper Research Associates and commissioned by Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey). During winter 1968-1,500 students and almost 700 alumni were interviewed.

"I found it a rather encouraging study," said Burns Roper, president of the research firm. "There was a good deal of criticism of the system, but it was mostly 'let's change the system from within' rather than 'let's overthrow it.'"

Some conclusions of the Roper study:

—Less than one-fourth of college students have smoked marijuana and only 3 per cent have tried LSD. About 46 per cent would like to make marijuana legal and 7 per cent favor legal sanctions for LSD.

—Belief in some form of god was voiced by about 60 per cent of college students. Forty per cent of the freshmen and 33 per cent of seniors said they believed in the orthodox "Supreme Being who created the earth and who rewards and punishes everyone."

—Two-thirds of unmarried male seniors said they have had sexual relations with one or more women to date—half the freshmen have.

—Although about a third of college students plan to go into the military after graduation almost as many wish to avoid the draft—25 per cent by legal means and 2 per cent by any means including a stint in federal prison if necessary.

Not only are college students "squares" than many worried parents believed, they are also more probusiness than had been assumed. Most plan careers in business and industry. Career in education, professional work and government service followed in that order.

Business leaders won points among college seniors for competence and progressive-ness, but they were also seen by many as self-seeking, ruthless and not sufficiently interested in social problems.

Among seniors polled, 59 per cent said "aggressiveness" is the most important quality for business success followed by creative ability, hard work and intelligence. In comparison, students rated aggressiveness, intelligence, "playing the angles" and hard work in that order as requirements for success in government.

The "moral" qualities got short shrift by students planning successful careers. "Idealism" was considered a get-ahead quality in government career by 5 per cent of students, in education by 14 per cent and in business by only 2 per cent. Only 2 per cent felt "courage to stand up for your ideas" pays off in business compared to 20 per cent in government and 13 per cent in education.

On issues involving campus life, the majority of students felt that student activity has had some beneficial effects although 82 per cent said it had gone to an extreme—at least in some instances.

Agreement with at least some of the goals of the militant Students for a Democratic Society was voiced by 55 per cent of the students, but a majority also disagreed with some of its goals or methods. Only 4 per cent totally approved the activist group.

The generation gap may not be as wide as expected. Two-thirds of seniors and freshmen said they agree with their parents on most things. Most critical of the present system were alumni—graduates of the class of 1964.

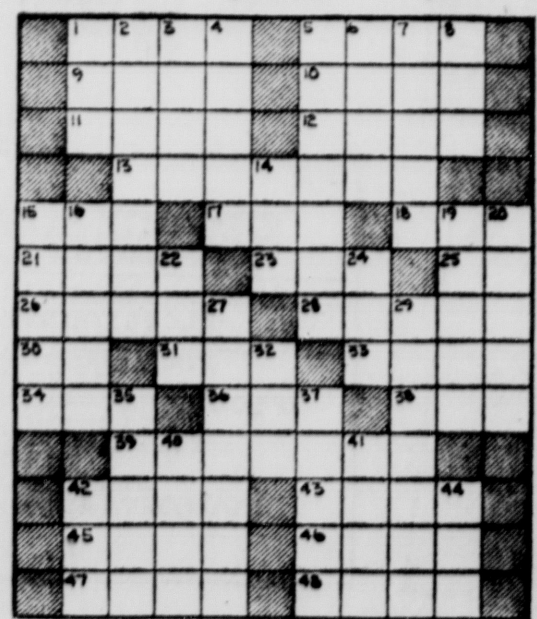

Persons who study pyramids theorize that Egyptian monarchs, wary of grave robbers and anxious to preserve their bodies, designed and built their pyramids to trick future generations into thinking the tombs already had been looted.

Some bobolinks wing from the prairies of Canada to the pampas of Argentina, more than 6,000 miles.

"REMEMBER, boy," cautioned a Texas oilman as he put his favorite nephew aboard a jet to Boston, "Never ask one of those snooty Harvard boys if he hails from Texas. If he does, he'll tell you. If he doesn't, don't embarrass him."

Punsters have babies, too, in their spare time, and one of them circulated the news of the arrival of a little daughter with a card reading, "We have skirted the issue."

Some months later the mother made the mistake of leaving the baby in this irresponsible fellow's care. He became wrapped up in a pro football game on TV and forgot all about the baby until he heard a series of bumps, followed by a horrendous wail. Clearly, baby had fallen down the stairs.

"Rosemary," called the father excitedly to his wife, cooking dinner in the kitchen. "Come quick! Our little girl just took her first forty-eight steps!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

After an attack of kidney stones it was found that one of the stones was made up of uric acid. A blood study showed that my uric acid was high. I never have had any of the symptoms of the swollen toe that seems to be the picture of gout. Are there any other symptoms identified with gout that are different from the ones we usually read about?

Mr. H. Y., Illinois
Dear Mr. Y.: Gout is a much more complex disease than the one that is represented by the typical picture that comes to mind. Somehow, we always think of an overfed, overweight, self-indulgent man with his foot elevated and his toes swathed in bandages. In reality, gout has so many faces and so many different pictures, that it may be overlooked because the symptoms may be so meager.

Deposits of stones in the kidneys or in the joints may be either calcium or in the case of those with a gouty tendency, uric acid. It is indeed fortunate that the stone you passed during your kidney attack was carefully examined and helped point to the possibility of gout.

Gout is a disturbance in the manufacture of uric acid and in an unusual accumulation in the blood there is evidence to suggest that there may be some hereditary tendency in this condition which occurs far more frequently in men than in women.

Occasionally, without any apparent reason, a sudden attack of gout may occur in the joints of the legs or feet. A sudden episode of painful swelling may be triggered by an insignificant injury, overindulgence in alcohol, infection or even a small surgical procedure. Only then may it come to light that gout may have existed without any unusual symptoms. Attacks of bursitis in the shoulder or stiffness of the knee may have been present without being identified with this disorder of food metabolism. As I state so often, a description of symptoms can only serve to confuse the reader. Symptoms therefore, are significant to the physician for the diagnosis of this or other conditions.

Diet and drugs are the two important factors in the control of this most painful disorder. In most instances the uric acid in the blood can now be kept at a level that prevents painful symptoms.

Uric acid is produced from foods that contain a high quantity of purines. Foods like sweetbreads, kidney, liver, sardines, anchovies and gravy extracts must be avoided. There now are two types of drugs used for the control of gout. The first aims at increasing the urinary output of uric acid. The second, a new and remarkable drug, allopurinol, prevents the formation of uric acid even from high-purine foods. A gouty person is a gouty person now and forever. It is for this reason that small amounts of drugs are used daily and consistently to avoid attacks.

ROTC Trains Astronauts

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

It might be of interest on Memorial Day, when we are supposed to indulge in the anachronistic convention of rendering homage to our patriotic heroes, that two of the Apollo 10 astronauts received their first military training in ROTC. Navy Commander John Watts Young, the commander of the ship which remained in a 70-mile-high orbit of the moon while "Snoopy," the lander module, was making its exploratory descent to within ten miles of the lunar surface, was a member of the Naval Reserve Officers Training unit at Georgia Tech. And Navy Commander Eugene Andrew Cernan, who was in the two-man Snoopy crew, was ROTC at Purdue in Indiana.

As of the moment of writing this column, I have looked in vain through our so-called mass media of the written word to find any mention of the fact that ROTC contributed to the training and the discipline of two of the three men chosen to make the most perilous space voyage to date. But practically every issue of the media contains some long account of the fumbling and temporizing and double-talk of college administrations who are bowing to the demands of Students for a Democratic Society to kick the ROTC off campus. Memorial Day, hah! What were the soldiers of the Blue and the Gray in the War Between the States but a "bunch of stooges" for the military-industrial complex of Abe Lincoln's and Jeff Davis's day?

You feel like asking what's the matter with our college presidents, deans, faculties and trustees in not facing up to the SDS anti-patriots. But you also wonder about the failure of the services to provide good P.R. work in defending the ROTC institution that helps produce men like Navy Commander Young and Navy Commander Cernan. Why aren't we told how many men in the moon-shot program are ROTC graduates?

There is a positive side to the ROTC question that was never once brought out by the Navy or by NASA (National Aeronautics and Space Administration) when the radicals at Columbia University, for instance, were agitating to throw out the local Naval Reserve Officers Training program.

The biographies of Commander Young and Commander Cernan ought to be rubbed in the faces of the college faculty members who have bowed to the demands of the SDS. The face-saving argument heard at Harvard and at Yale and at Stanford is that ROTC courses lack "intellectual content." This is a fine thing to be bringing up at this point in the history of American university course substance. You can study hotel management at Cornell (and I'm not against it), you can get credit for a course in fly-casting at some of the Middle Western universities, you can turn innumerable courses in so-called sociology into a year's participation in totally unscientific bull sessions. If this sort of thing gets the blessing of the SDS, there is absolutely no argument against the "intellectual content" of ROTC.

Congress is so angry that it is cracking down on giving federal money for scholarship grants to campus rioters. At the rate we are going it will be doing any boy or girl a favor if we make it impossible for him (or her) to attend college. The boy or girl of the future will get more "intellectual content" just by avoiding certain of the learned ones of our college faculties who don't seem to know that there is such a thing as the law of trespass, or the law of assault and battery.

Boyd Withdraws Candidacy For Attorney's Job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Robert E. Boyd, Columbus attorney who has been mentioned as a possible choice for U. S. District Attorney for Southern Ohio, confirmed Wednesday that he had asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration.

He said he wrote that to Ohio Sen. William B. Saxbe, but declined any other comment on his action.

Boyd had been opposed for the post by Columbus Congressman Samuel L. Devine who is reported favoring William Lohr, a former FBI agent, for the post. Devine is himself a former FBI agent.

Saxbe has been recommending Boyd for the post, and Boyd's action seemed probable to widen a split between the senator and representative over political patronage jobs.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Early Vacations

Conversation in almost any group now turns to vacations. Thereupon those who have already had theirs discover that they are on the outside looking in. That is because for them it is all over. But secretly they resolve that next year they will take theirs in late summer if they can manage it.

They are permitted to put in a word or two. They can report on conditions as they found them. If they went to a resort where someone else is going, they can report whether $10 a day — formerly $5 — accommodations are now $20 or $25.

But the others are looking ahead to the outings awaiting them. That is what they want to talk about. They may listen politely to the early bird's account of what he did, and laugh at some of his observations, but their minds are elsewhere.

Whether anticipation is better than realization, or vice versa, a vacation still to come is more interesting to the one who is going to have it than a vacation someone else has had.

The Public Decides

In the relatively short life span of the automotive industry, 3,000 makes have disappeared in the United States. The latest, Corvair, serves as a reminder that even in a market which seems unable to support any but the largest manufacturers of automobiles, there is no guarantee that the largest of all will always produce a winner.

The Corvair had loyal owners and for a few years achieved popularity in sales, but in its last model year these dropped to 10,000.

This is the point to be remembered.

It is not the company which makes it, no matter how large it is or how much it spends on promotion, which decides the success or failure of a product in the market place.

The giants, no less than the small entrepreneurs, must depend upon the consumer for the final verdict.

As it has done innumerable times before, the public has made the final decision in the market. Though tinged with a little sadness, that decision is one of the signs of a healthy and free economy.

Want Ads Serve

A phenomenal development of the advertising world has been the upsurge in classified advertising in daily newspapers. Never before have so many of these little ads served millions so well. Classified advertising has been described as the world's greatest market of services.

Free enterprise thrives on advertising, in fact each complements the other. Want ads bring buyer and seller of goods and services together, efficiently and quickly and economically.

Among a newspaper's many services, none is more far-reaching than the mighty little want ad which makes available to everyone all the pulling power of the printed word delivered to the home of the community.

The Business World

By LISA CRONIN (For John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — The militant minority may occupy the campus building and the headlines, but today's average college man attends classes, goes to church and plans to get ahead just as his father did a quarter of a century ago.

Not only are brick-throwing dissidents rare among today's college population, but most students say American society is "basically sound." Only 9 percent of all students could be called as "revolutionaries" — believing that existing institutions should be scrapped and replaced.

So reports a nationwide survey of student and alumni attitudes conducted by Roper Research Associates and commissioned by Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey). During winter 1968-1,500 students and almost 700 alumni were interviewed.

"I found it a rather encouraging study," said Burns Roper, president of the research firm. "There was a good deal of criticism of the system, but it was mostly 'let's change the system from within' rather than 'let's overthrow it.'"

Some conclusions of the Roper study: —Less than one-fourth of college students have smoked marijuana and only 3 percent have tried LSD. About 46 percent would like to make marijuana legal and 7 percent favor legal sanctions for LSD.

—Belief in some form of god was voiced by about 60 percent of college students. Forty percent of the freshmen and 33 percent of seniors said they believed in the orthodox "Supreme Being who created the earth and who rewards and punishes everyone."

—Two-thirds of unmarried male seniors said they have had sexual relations with one or more women to date—half the freshman have.

—Although about a third of college students plan to go into the military after graduation almost as many wish to avoid the draft—25 percent by legal means and 2 percent by any means including a stint in federal prison if necessary.

Not only are college students "squarer" than many worried parents believed, they are also more probusiness than had been assumed. Most plan careers in business and industry. Career in education, professional work and government service followed in that order.

Business leaders won points among college seniors for competence and progressiveness, but they were also seen by many as self-seeking, ruthless and not sufficiently interested in social problems.

Among seniors polled, 59 percent said "aggressiveness" is the most important quality for business success followed by creative ability, hard work and intelligence. In comparison, students rated aggressiveness, intelligence, "playing the angles" and hard work in that order as requirements for success in government.

The "moral" qualities got short shrift by students planning successful careers. "Idealism" was considered a get-ahead quality in government career by 5 percent of students, in education by 14 percent and in business by only 2 percent. Only 2 percent felt "courage to stand up for your ideas" pays off in business compared to 20 percent in government and 13 percent in education.

On issues involving campus life, the majority of students felt that student activity has had some beneficial effects although 82 percent said it had gone to an extreme—at least in some instances.

Agreement with at least some of the goals of the militant Students for a Democratic Society was voiced by 55 percent of the students, but a majority also disagreed with some of its goals or methods. Only 4 percent totally approved the activist group.

The generation gap may not be as wide as expected. Two-thirds of seniors and freshmen said they agree with their parents on most things. Most critical of the present system were alumni—graduates of the class of 1964.

Persons who study pyramids theorize that Egyptian monarchs, wary of grave robbers and anxious to preserve their bodies, designed and built their pyramids to trick future generations into thinking the tombs already had been looted.

He said he wrote that to Ohio Sen. William B. Saxbe, but declined any other comment on his action.

Boyd had been opposed for the post by Columbus Congressman Samuel L. Devine who is reported favoring William Lohr, a former FBI agent, for the post. Devine is himself a former FBI agent.

Saxbe has been recommending Boyd for the post, and Boyd's action seemed probable to widen a split between the senator and representative over political patronage jobs.

Holdup-Slaying Sentence Passed

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Robert Duron, 22, convicted last

Friday of first degree manslaughter in the June 11, 1968 holdup slaying of service station attendant Vincent Geminne, was sentenced in Hancock County Common Pleas Court today.

Judge Joe M. Moorhead imposed three sentences, 1 - 20 years on the manslaughter conviction, 1-20 on a charge of manslaughter while committing a robbery, and 1-25 years for armed robbery.

The sentences are to be served consecutively.

Ohio Soldier Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army 1st Lt. James S. Luckett II of Columbus, Ohio, has been killed in recent action in Vietnam, the Defense Department reported Wednesday.

TVHS Editor Is Guest Of Newspaper

BILLIE SHELTON

Billie Shelton, editor of The Blue and Gold, was a guest at The Columbus Dispatch May 17. She was accompanied by Mrs. Helen Cookson, adviser.

Billie was taken on a tour of the plant along with other students, while the advisers participated in a "Journalism Forum" with editors and executives.

At noon, guests were taken to the Neil House and were served a roast beef dinner. Following the dinner, guest speaker Joyce Lam, editor of "Career Corner," spoke to students on selecting a life-time vocation.

Following Miss Lam's speech, the students were awarded framed certificates.

Billie was selected as the Teays Valley High School recipient on the basis of her high degree of teamwork with staff members and her enthusiasm in her duties as editor this year.

Taylor Attacks Withdrawal Idea

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, says that withdrawing American troops from Vietnam now would weaken the U.S. bargaining position in the Paris peace talks.

Although negotiating from strength "has almost become a dirty word . . . that's the way the other side is trying to organize its negotiations," he told a news conference Tuesday before an address to the California Bankers Association.

"I don't understand the desire to reduce one's strength at a time when it should be the strongest," Taylor said. "I think we are on the way to winning unless we defeat ourselves."

Spring Valley Garden Club Holds Session

The Spring Valley Garden Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Glenn Whitten, Chillicothe. Mrs. Frances Wilson, president, presented the club prayer.

Members answered roll call by naming an iris suitable for a rock garden. Mrs. Robert Osterle reported on the recent Flea Market held by the club.

A report of the Regional Meeting at Commercial Point was given by Mrs. Walter Osterle. Also attending were Mrs. Frances Wilson and Mrs. Raymond Congrove.

Mrs. Clark Whitten, Mrs. Raymond Congrove and Mrs. Walter Osterle were appointed to prepare schedules for the club's Flower Show.

Mrs. Walter Osterle presented a program on horticulture. She said that horticulture was more than 20,000 years old. It has its place in music, art, the sciences and many interesting stories.

The best part it can play in our everyday life is by growing flowers and other types of gardening to relieve tensions. She said that if more people would use their efforts in this way the sale of tranquilizers would drop to a low level and the joy received from growing, showing and sharing is very rewarding.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Glenn Whitten and Mrs. Virginia Stout. Guests were Phoebe Shaw, Danny Shaw and LeAnn Ogle.

Several specimens of shrubs and trees were on display from Mrs. Osterle's lawn. She extended an invitation to any who wish to visit her home and view the many blooming flowers.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Virginia Stout.

DACTours Historical Society Home

The Colonial William Ball chapter of the Daughters of the American Colonists met for its May meeting at the Pickaway Arms. Luncheon was served to seven members and one guest.

Miss Dehl Renick regent, opened the meeting in ritualistic form. A planter was sent to Mrs. Chance, who is in the London hospital, and a plant was sent to Mrs. Ella Zahn of Mt. Sterling, who will be ninety-eight years young May 28.

After a short business meeting the group toured the Pickaway County Historical Home. The meeting room and kitchen are completed. The meeting room is decorated with white walls, antique blue woodwork and red carpet. Pickaway Countians can be proud of the home as it means the cooperation of many who contribute their time, plans and money necessary to complete this home.

The June meeting will be at the home of Miss Dehl Renick for a cooperative dinner.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Arthur Leist, Mrs. Carl Martin, Miss Mary Clark, Mrs. Robert A. Jones, Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. Beryl Stevenson, Mrs. Luther List, Mrs. Moss, Mrs. Charles Rose and Stevens.

Republican Women's Club Holds Luncheon Meeting

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Skirts of Happy Chance" on NBC Wednesday night was an original comedy-romance presented as a dramatic special. It abounded in excellent performers but the script was pretty dreadful.

For plot, we had an idealistic author, played by William Shatner, involved with a community action program designed to help the poor. Another member of the committee was a raging howling feminist—Elizabeth Ashley—whose attitudes and convictions were reminiscent of the early bloomer girls.

The angry young woman was so concerned about male domination that she proposed to picket the local marriage bureau and became very upset because the waiter asked her date to sample the wine before pouring a glass.

Naturally the idealistic young author fell for the fiery feminist, and it must be said that Shatner made a valiant effort to handle the leaden lines as if they were light, gay and funny. Miss Ashley came on strong, hysterical and shrill, and Shatner came off looking like a dope.

Since it was presumed to be comedy, boy eventually got girl, and together they confounded the venal politicians who wanted to take advantage of the downturned. It was not a very funny idea to start with.

The hour, written by Albert Ruben, was the fifth and final program in the "On Stage" series this season and was, far and away, its weakest effort.

NBC has a scoop of sorts with an interview with Sirhan Sirhan convicted assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Portions of the taped interview with correspondent Jack Perkins will be broadcast next week on the network's two-hour "First Tuesday" program.

Perkins' interview, held the day after Sirhan was sentenced to death, lasted two hours, but only the highlights will be shown.

After nine years as a widower with some narrow squeaks, Stephen Douglas of "My Three Sons" will marry next season. During the past season, to brighten up the long-playing situation comedy, one of the sons and spouse produced triplets.

Mansfield Fire Costly

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Fire swept through the R. B. Maxwell department store in downtown Mansfield at noon Wednesday, demolished the building, caused smoke and water damage in a six block area and injured five persons.

Unofficial damage estimates ranged as high as $1 million.

The fire broke out in the basement after store manager M. L. Barnett turned on a gas air conditioning unit, which exploded. He was hospitalized with serious burns.

Adjacent buildings were evacuated because of smoke and flames.

Firemen, four of whom suffered smoke inhalation, brought the flames under control about 2½ hours later.

The Circleville Branch of the American Assn. of University Women held its Annual Spring Dinner Meeting Tuesday at Pickaway Arms.

Dr. Helen Cameron, professor of economics at Ohio State University, spoke to the gathering on "The Status Of Women Today." She encouraged members to become more involved in today's business and political world.

Out-going president, Lois Heffelfinger, was honored for her work for the branch.

New officers installed were Sue Edwards, president; Carol Mader, recording secretary; Marky May, corresponding secretary; Carolyn Whitley, bulletin editor; Mildred Dowden, hospitality chairman; Pat Perry, fellowship chairman; Sharon Blecha, legislative chairman; Nello Osterle, world problems area representative; Judy Reithmiller, community problems area representative; Jane Sutton cultural interests area representative; Sheryl Wood, education area representative; this beleaguered earth chairman, Karen Schieman, and Eleanor Flierl, academic community chairman.

Farm Bureau Women Plan Fair Booth

Pickaway County Farm Bureau Women's Committee met recently at the Farm Bureau home with Mrs. John Moss Sr., president. Devotions which included "The Legend of the Redbud Tree" were presented by Mrs. Fred McCoy.

"Campus Days for Women" at The Ohio State University was announced for June 17-19, those interested in attending may call the extension office for more information.

The Buckeye Farm News, Ohio Farm Bureau's monthly magazine, has requested Farm Bureau women to send in their favorite recipes or unusual items about Farm Bureau women or women's committees. These may be published, and the address to send items is 245 N. High St., Columbus.

Plans were begun for the Farm Bureau booth at the Pickaway County Fair to be held July 27 - August 1. The booth will demonstrate Farm Bureau organization, membership, councils, and committees, and Farm Bureau members will serve as hosts and hostesses throughout Fair Week.

Nelson Stevens, organization director, announced that ten boys and girls have been

Spring Valley Garden Club Holds Session

The Spring Valley Garden Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Glenn Whitten, Chillicothe. Mrs. Frances Wilson, president, presented the club prayer.

Members answered roll call by naming an iris suitable for a rock garden. Mrs. Robert Osterle reported on the recent Flea Market held by the club.

A report of the Regional Meeting at Commercial Point was given by Mrs. Walter Osterle. Also attending were Mrs. Frances Wilson and Mrs. Raymond Congrove.

Mrs. Clark Whitten, Mrs. Raymond Congrove and Mrs. Walter Osterle were appointed to prepare schedules for the club's Flower Show.

Mrs. Walter Osterle presented a program on horticulture. She said that horticulture was more than 20,000 years old. It has its place in music, art, the sciences and many interesting stories.

The best part it can play in our everyday life is by growing flowers and other types of gardening to relieve tensions. She said that if more people would use their efforts in this way the sale of tranquilizers would drop to a low level and the joy received from growing, showing and sharing is very rewarding.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Glenn Whitten and Mrs. Virginia Stout. Guests were Phoebe Shaw, Danny Shaw and LeAnn Ogle.

Several specimens of shrubs and trees were on display from Mrs. Osterle's lawn. She extended an invitation to any who wish to visit her home and view the many blooming flowers.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Virginia Stout.

DAC Tours Historical Society Home

The Colonial William Ball chapter of the Daughters of the American Colonists met for its May meeting at the Pickaway Arms. Luncheon was served to seven members and one guest.

Miss Dehl Renick regent, opened the meeting in ritualistic form. A planter was sent to Mrs. Chance, who is in the London hospital, and a plant was sent to Mrs. Ella Zahn of Mt. Sterling, who will be ninety-eight years young May 28.

After a short business meeting the group toured the Pickaway County Historical Home. The meeting room and kitchen are completed. The meeting room is decorated with white walls, antique blue woodwork and red carpet. Pickaway Countians can be proud of the home as it means the cooperation of many who contribute their time, plans and money necessary to complete this home.

The June meeting will be at the home of Miss Dehl Renick for a cooperative dinner.

selected to attend Farm Bureau Youth Conference at Otterbein in June.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Arthur Leist, Mrs. Carl Martin, Miss Mary Clark, Mrs. Robert A. Jones, Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. Beryl Stevenson, Mrs. Luther List, Mrs. Moss, Mrs. Charles Rose and Stevens.

Republican Women's Club Holds Luncheon Meeting

Pickaway County Women's Republican Club met Monday at Ashville Park. A covered-dish luncheon preceded the business session and program. Co-hostesses were Miss Doris Cook and Mrs. Mary M. Fry. They were assisted by Mr. H. O. Caldwell, Mrs. Jessie Buskirk, Miss Gladys Vause, Mrs. Jean Crites, Mrs. Louise Pettibone, Mrs. Mae Payne, Miss Cleona Dunnick and Mrs. Elmer Siegle.

Rebecca Rockey Engaged To Charles Bero

MISS REBECCA ROCKEY

Mrs. Bernard Santucci, Youngstown, announces the engagement and coming marriage of her daughter, Miss A. Rebecca Rockey, 367 Shields Road, Youngstown, Ohio, to Charles F. Bero, Youngstown, son of Mrs. Armand Bero. She is the daughter of the late Chester J. Rockey and the granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Rockey, Ashville, Ohio.

Miss Rockey is the Director of Nursing at Ridgewood Nursing Center, 1012 Glenwood Avenue, Youngstown. She was graduated from Riverside White-Cross School of Nursing, Olentangy River Road, Columbus, and has attended Ohio State University and Ohio Northern University. She is also presently on the teaching staff of the Mahoning County Red Cross.

Mr. Bero has recently completed a five-year plumber's apprenticeship with Scholl-Choffin, Youngstown, and will be a journeyman plumber in September. He served four years in the Navy.

Plans are being made for a September wedding in Youngstown.

Served with the luncheon were punch, iced tea, coffee, decorated cake and ice cream slices with elephant centers.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. H. O. Caldwell, who gave recognition to the invited guests from Obetz, Columbus, Lockbourne and Florida.

Mrs. Wilbur F. Gillespie reported on the Republican Women's Conference at Atwood Lake.

Mrs. C. A. Bliss, 20 year member, received her gold membership card and jeweled American flag pin, from the National Organizations and the local club. Mrs. Bliss praised the local club with the beginning words of a poem "Two kinds of people on earth are the people who lift and the people who lean."

Mrs. Caldwell, who attended the Republican Dinner in Columbus recently gave a review of events of the events there.

Carl B. Fry, son of Mrs. Mary M. Fry, presented his views of problems at Ohio State University, where he is a student after completing four years of service in the Air Force. He plans to enter law school. He answered questions by members following his talk.

The next club meeting will be a picnic at Hargus Lake, northeast of Circleville on June 23. Hostesses will be Mrs. Eugene P. Hanson, Mrs. C. P. Heiskell and Miss Maggie Mavis.

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Skirts of Happy Chance" on NBC Wednesday night was an original comedy-romance presented as a dramatic special. It abounded in excellent performers but the script was pretty dreadful.

For plot, we had an idealistic author, played by William Shatner, involved with a community action program designed to help the poor. Another member of the committee was a raging howling feminist—Elizabeth Ashley—whose attitudes and convictions were reminiscent of the early bloomer girls.

The angry young woman was so concerned about male domination that she proposed to picket the local marriage bureau and became very upset because the waiter asked her date to sample the wine before pouring a glass.

Naturally the idealistic young author fell for the fiery feminist, and it must be said that Shatner made a valiant effort to handle the leaden lines as if they were light, gay and funny. Miss Ashley came on strong, hysterical and shrill, and Shatner came off looking like a dope.

Since it was presumed to be comedy, boy eventually got girl, and together they confounded the venal politicians who wanted to take advantage of the downtrodden. It was not a very funny idea to start with.

The hour, written by Albert Ruben, was the fifth and final program in the "On Stage" series this season and was, far and away, its weakest effort. NBC has a scoop of sorts with an interview with Sirhan Sirhan convicted assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Portions of the taped interview with correspondent Jack Perkins will be broadcast next week on the network's two-hour "First Tuesday" program.

Perkins' interview, held the day after Sirhan was sentenced to death, lasted two hours, but only the highlights will be shown.

After nine years as a widower with some narrow squeaks, Stephen Douglas of "My Three Sons" will marry next season. During the past season, to brighten up the long-playing situation comedy, one of the sons and spouse produced triplets.

Mansfield Fire Costly

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Fire swept through the R. B. Maxwell department store in downtown Mansfield at noon Wednesday, demolished the building, caused smoke and water damage in a six block area and injured five persons.

Unofficial damage estimates ranged as high as $1 million.

The fire broke out in the basement after store manager M. L. Barnette turned on a gas air conditioning unit, which exploded. He was hospitalized with serious burns.

Adjacent buildings were evacuated because of smoke and flames.

Firemen, four of whom suffered smoke inhalation, brought the flames under control about 2½ hours later.

Set Hearings In Slaying

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—Two escapees from the Fairfield School for Boys were ordered Wednesday to appear at separate court hearings to face delinquency charges in the shooting death of a security guard.

Steven Patrick, 15, and Roger Craft, 17, both of Marion, escaped Friday and were captured Saturday.

Charles Marion, 23, of Amanda, was shot as he and another security officer closed in on the pair in a wooded area near here.

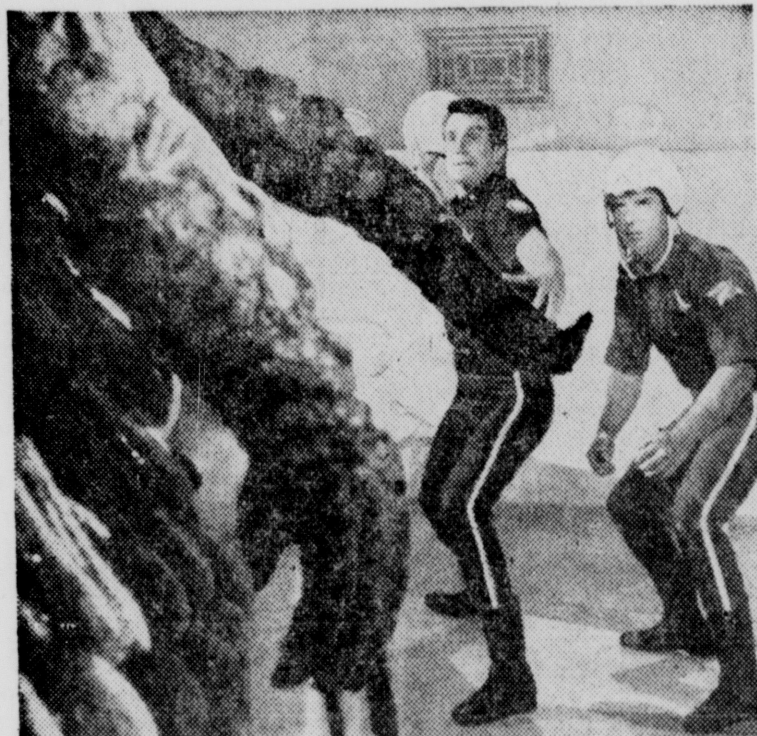

Craft will appear before Juvenile Court Judge Robert Hastings on July 7 and Patrick will appear July 23.

Judge Hastings will decide whether the two should be tried as adults on charges of first-degree murder.

Emmett Chapel Bible School Scheduled

The Emmett Chapel United Methodist Church located in Logan Elm Village is having its Vacation Bible School June 9 through June 20 from 9 to 11:30 a.m.

The theme this year is "Jesus Leads Me." Anyone wishing to register can call 474-3347 or 474-7841. The co-chairmen this year are Mrs. Ned Rader and Mrs. David Dumm.

GREEN SLIME — Robert Horton and Richard Jaekel, officers aboard a space station, battle a group of fiendish monsters, emanating from slime, who have invaded the space station. It's one of the thrill scenes of the spellbinding science-fiction horror drama, "The Green Slime." Luciana Paluzzi has the feminine starring role in the hair-raising color attraction, now playing at the North Auto Theater.

Sub Sinking Said 'Carelessness'

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP) — A breakdown in communications between work crews filling and emptying water tanks on opposite ends of the ship unaware each other's work, caused the $50 million nuclear submarine Guitarro to sink at its outfitting dock May 15, a Congressional subcommittee says.

The report, issued Wednesday by three congressmen, said the circumstances which sent the submarine to the bottom of the Napa River in 35 feet of water was "wholly avoidable" and occurred because of "inexcusable carelessness."

No one was injured and the vessel was refloated May 18. Crews began repairing damage running into millions of dollars, and sought to have it ready for commissioning scheduled later this year.

The congressmen, Samuel Stratton, D-N.Y., John E. Hunt, R-N.J., and William J. Randall, D-Mo., said their interim report would be followed by a fuller one to the parent House Armed Services Committee.

Their report told the following story of events:

A nonnuclear crew was moving and adding water in forward tanks to trim the ship so it would be suitable for tests to be conducted by a nuclear crew in the aft portion of the sub.

Meantime, the nuclear crew, thinking the vessel already in trim and unaware of the other workers' activity, began its own tank calibration tests using water.

After the nonnuclear crew had added 2,000 gallons of water to ballast tanks to lower the bow, it went to lunch.

At 7:50 p.m. the nuclear group began emptying five tons of water from the aft section, completing the job at 8:30 p.m.

A member of the nuclear group noted a sudden marked dip in the ship forward and went to investigate. At the same time the other workers returned and noticed the submarine down sharply at the bow "with massive flooding taking place through several large open hatches."

The report said efforts to prevent the sinking by closing water tight openings in bulkheads within the ship were thwarted because numerous construction lines and power cables passing through them could not be detached quickly.

At 8:55 p.m. the Guitarro was on the river bottom.

Feature of the sale will be the senior herd sire, CR Victory Anxiety 2.

Sweeney Blasts

Gov. Rhodes,

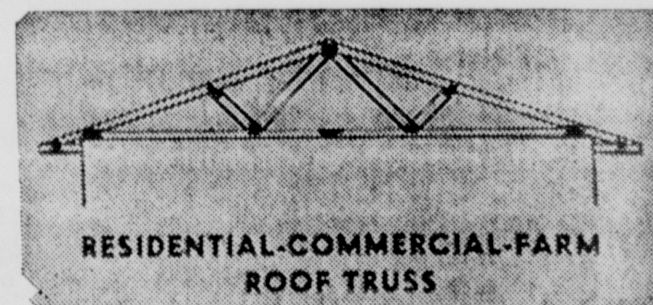

Newspapers

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes and Ohio's newspapers came under a blistering attack Wednesday from former Congressman Robert E. Sweeney.

Sweeney, a Bay Village lawyer, is considered by some a potential candidate for governor in 1970.

Speaking at a Democratic Party dinner, Sweeney said the press played down Life magazine's charges that Rhodes maintained political funds while in office.

"Why are our Ohio newspapers so quiet and mute about the scandal in Columbus?" Sweeney asked. "The newspapers know, you know, I know, that the gentleman in Columbus has deceived the public trust."

Sweeney Blasts Gov. Rhodes, Newspapers

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes and Ohio's newspapers came under a blistering attack Wednesday from former Congressman Robert E. Sweeney.

Sweeney, a Bay Village lawyer, is considered by some a potential candidate for governor in 1970.

Speaking at a Democratic Party dinner, Sweeney said the press played down Life magazine's charges that Rhodes maintained political funds while in office.

"Why are our Ohio newspapers so quiet and mute about the scandal in Columbus?" Sweeney asked. "The newspapers know, you know, I know, that the gentleman in Columbus has deceived the public trust."

GREEN SLIME — Robert Horton and Richard Jaeckel, officers aboard a space station, battle a group of fiendish monsters, emanating from slime, who have invaded the space station. It's one of the thrill scenes of the spellbinding science-fiction horror drama, "The Green Slime." Luciana Paluzzi has the feminine starring role in the hair-raising color attraction, now playing at the North Auto Theater.

Dr. Uhrig Is CBC Speaker

DR. UHRIG

Circleville Bible College's nineteenth Commencement is being planned for 2:30 Sunday at the campus church.

It is impossible to approach Circleville from the east on route 22 and fail to notice the conspicuous red brick, white-roofed buildings standing out against their landscaped background. The chapel church, the location for this year's activities, dominates the scene.

The special speaker this year is Dr. Paul Uhrig who at one time was acting president of Malone College in Canton. Dr. Uhrig, a member of the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends, is an Easterner having been raised in Maryland and attended college in Wilmington, Delaware specializing in business administration.

He turned to theology and graduated from Eastern Wesleyan College in Allentown, Pa. in 1940. In recognition of his contribution to Christianity he was honored by Asbury Theological Seminary by being awarded the Doctor of Divinity degree.

As an evangelist, his travels have taken him over much of the United States, and also to Africa, Asia, Europe and South America. In 1964 he was one of the evangelists at the Mount of Praise Camp meeting here in Circleville.

Sixteen degrees and one diploma will be granted on Sunday, and in addition there will be several awards announced. After the service the new academic building, now almost completed, will be open for inspection. This will be an opportunity for residents of the area to become acquainted with the new campus which represents expenditures well in excess of a half-million dollars and brings to the Circleville area over 200 students.

The first European to sail Long Island Sound full length was the Dutch navigator Adriaen Block, who in 1614 negotiated the turbulent Hell Gate of the East River and emerged into the sound.

Ohio Schools Embroiled In Sex Education Controversy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Should sex education be taught in Ohio's schools? And if so, how much should be taught?

These two questions are at the center of a growing controversy in which lack of communication apparently plays a large part.

Leading the protest against sex education in Ohio is the Movement to Restore Decency (MOTOREDE), organized nationally by the John Birch Society.

"We certainly don't object to teaching biology and health courses if it's done by competent teachers," says James Rinehart of Cuyahoga Falls, coordinator of MOTOREDE in Ohio. "But we're against the teaching of immorality in the name of sex education. We object to pornography and immorality no matter how it is labeled."

One casualty of the sex education protest is a program in Marietta. Other disputes about sex education instruction have erupted recently in Dayton, Cincinnati, Greenville, Portage County and the Columbus suburb of Bexley.

Educators say much of the criticism of sex education is the result of ignorance of what schools teach or are planning to teach.

"Some of the objections are due to misunderstanding of what sex education is all about," says the Rev. Herman Kenning, assistant superintendent of the Catholic School Board of the Archdiocese of Cincinnati. "Sex education is not principally concerned with the physical maneuvers of marriage."

The main purpose is to help boys develop in a masculine way and girls in a feminine way; to help both understand what it means to be a man or to be a woman."

Educators say few, if any, Ohio school districts have a specific "sex education" course. Most teaching of sex comes in health hygiene, biology or family living courses. Most sex education classes are segregated by sex.

Cincinnati's public schools have included sex education in high school health classes since 1945. But the school administration received 10 telephone complaints about sex courses following an April speech by Dr. Gordon V. Drake, head of the department of education of Dr. Billy Hargis' Christian Crusade.

Tulsa, Okla. About 700 listened to Drake's speech on "Raw Sex in Our Schools."

Drake collected about 500 signatures on a petition opposing sex education during a speech in Dayton two nights later.

A routine PTA meeting in Bexley turned into a stormy session for about 900 persons after Christian Crusade anti-sex literature was passed out in the wealthy suburb.

"We would have had no problem if it had not been for all of the outlandish Christian Crusade literature passed out," said Bexley Supt. William Gregg. "They spread lies and distortions to create a false impression that any educational effort to provide more complete education for children is suspect."

About 500 persons at a Bexley PTA meeting later approved curriculum revisions for an expanded sex education program. Another public hearing was to be held before the Board of Education voted on the new program.

The Marietta Board of Education dropped a proposed "Family Living and Sex Education" program which had been criticized by a group of parents and other Marietta residents.

The committee which recommended the program be dropped said it did not want to subject teachers to further abuse "that is coming from a militant minority which is flooding the town with extremist materials published by the John Birch Society and the Christian Crusade."

Robert Lucas, superintendent of the Princeton schools near Cincinnati said he couldn't understand all the rumors on sex education.

"We've had the same program for four or five years, and there's never been any parental objection until recently," he said.

Sex education in the Marion city schools is integrated into general science and biology courses from the fifth and sixth grades through high school. It is taught in high school religion courses in the Marion Catholic schools.

Elgin High School in Marion County plans a sex education course to go into effect in two years. It will be taught in the ninth or tenth grade.

New Philadelphia schools have started a pilot program of sex education in junior high with no parental objections.

A plan to begin formal sex education in elementary and junior high schools at Dover has had some opposition.

Strasburg in Tuscarawas County started a program in grades six through nine with no public reaction.

A controversy erupted in East Liverpool last fall when the schools started sex education in the seventh and ninth grades. The school board backed the administration and the program remained.

Sex education in Mount Vernon is taught in health and home economics courses with no controversy.

It has been taught in the health science program at Athens for several years and there has been no organized opposition or controversy.

A brief controversy began in Washington Court House, which has no specific sex education program, following the showing of a film to seventh, eighth and ninth graders. The film reviewed the population explosion and covered contraceptive measures in general terms. Several parents objected.

The Gentzels on the Lancaster Pike have a lovely climbing rose in bloom. It looks like the old garden rose, American Beauty.

Speaking of American Beauty rose, the one at 206 S. Pickaway St. always puts on a show every year. I always look forward to seeing it. I hope it lives for years and years. It always gives me a lift to see its gorgeous display.

There is a Poinsettia in the window of Goeller's Paint Store on East Main St. It hasn't lost its bloom or leaves since before Christmas. This is most unusual. It requires just the right conditions to last this way. "Toady" Goeller must have the same green thumb his brother Dr. Goeller has. I know what a wonderful gardener Dr. Goeller is.

Pauline Savey has the most beautiful iris in her garden. They are really worth mentioning. There is about every color and combination that you

Flowers, Then And Now

Nature Notes Of Yesteryear

By THE LATE W. M. REID

Recently I have been reading some wonderful and interesting books that have cost the authors an immense sum of money to produce, yet they may be had for the asking.

Books brilliant in colors that shame the rainbow. I am referring, of course, to the new seed catalogs.

In them are shown the same flowers of our grandmother's day, yet how different in appearance and coloring. Note the Zinnia, for instance — The "Zeeny" of those far off days.

Then it was only a straggling flower with only a few colors, single in bloom. Today, through the scientific work of plant breeders in selection and hybridization, the bloom may be as large as 6 inches in diameter of various and bewildering shades of colors, growing to a height of 3 or more feet. Or they may be dwarf-like plants, yet as brilliant in coloring as their tall brethren.

Back in those days the petunia was found in nearly every flower garden. But the coloring was tame as compared with today's plant which is produced in vivid colors ranging from pure white through the whole gamut of colors.

And the marigold, then usually single with its strong odor displeasing to many persons. Now exquisite in bulbs cannot be planted.

Oystershell scale hatches the latter part of this month. Watch for it on lilacs. Spray promptly.

Flowering hedges of spiraea, deutzia or lilac should be cut back when the flowering season has passed. Severe cutting is necessary if such hedges are to be kept in good condition.

Rust on hawthorne is easier prevented than controlled. Spray promptly before the spores become imbedded in the leaves. The disease requires two hosts for its life cycle, red cedar and the hawthorns.

coloring ranging from canary yellow to gold and maroon and even the odorless varieties can be secured by those to whom the usual pungent smell is distasteful. Also a new type has been developed that has a definitely sweet fragrance.

The French marigold, heretofore always single, has now been bred to double types. The plant scientists have developed this flower to resemble other forms like the Scabiosa and Dahlia flowers.

PEONY DISPLAY — The peonies at the Paul Johnson's are really at their best this year. These bushes are over 40 years old and have been in their present location for over 16 years.

By RUTH MONTELIUS

Sycamore Place is a most delightful spot in the midst of busy Circleville. Its two acres are tree shaded and peaceful.

Many kinds of trees are there because the Paul A. Johnsons at 584 Woodland Drive believe in preserving the best of nature. It is called Sycamore Place obviously for all the large sycamores, one is nine feet around.

There are many forms of wild life found here, all kinds of birds and I saw a cotton tail hopping around. Mr. Johnson has bird boxes. There is a lovely fountain and swings for the grandchildren, who spent many happy hours here.

When they first moved to this lovely spot there were plenty of horseweeds and undergrowth. Now with attention and care it is lovely with flowers and lawn. This home and grounds is truly a show place.

MRS. JOHNSON refused to move to her new home 16 years ago unless she could take her garden with her. Mr. Johnson cheerfully bought some of each shrub, bulb, flower and plants to accompany them to their new home. The 15 peony bushes were carefully dug up and replanted at the new site, half way down the terrace, where they have remained ever since.

These have not been divided but seem to flourish year after year. The color scheme is one of white and pink peonies with Dresden blue iris separating them. They are planted about three or four feet apart.

The favorite of Mrs. Johnson is the beautiful white peony "Le Cygne" (swan in French). This particular variety has won her many, many blue ribbons. There were so many she has lost count. Other plants worth mentioning are the Festive Maxima, which is a white with crimson markings and the Edulis Superba, a double rose-pink.

Peony culture is a subject on which Mrs. Johnson is certainly an authority. She says that they require a lot of sun, good drainage and not too much wind. They should be put out before freezing weather. If they are to be divided, the whole clump should be dug up, then divided. This means early September so they can become rooted before freezing weather.

Peonies are a practical and satisfactory flower for the gardener. Not only is it a good flower for cutting and garden bloom but makes an attractive landscape planting for accent due to its beautiful, deep green luxuriant foliage.

THIS flower does not do well in Southern climates. Winters can be severe for it. It is a cold weather plant but doesn't take late frost in April or May. It should be planted shallow. The Johnsons prepared a trench seven to nine inches deep. Manure was placed at the bottom with dirt over this so the roots don't touch the fertilizer. The clumps of one or two eyes should be planted two inches deep. Many times the lack of bloom is due to planting too deep.

To gain top bloom peonies should be disbudded. Mrs. Johnson clipped hundreds and hundreds of buds from her bushes to gain the top size blooms she wanted.

Peonies have been a favorite in this country since 1800. They were grown and revered in China for 2,000 years for the flower and the root, which was used for food and medicinal purposes. There are now over 3,000 varieties and include both tree and herbaceous types.

I asked what was done to get the plants ready for winter. After the first frost, Mr. Johnson levels them to the ground with a cutting tool. This helps prevent disease for the next year.

Even though the Johnsons

Miss Florence Bitzer, 212 East Main St. gave Mrs. William Radcliff a start of a wisteria about five years ago. They both watched this slip grow and waited for the bloom to appear. Finally this year it is in bloom.

Floyd Bartley has about 10 different colors of azaleas in bloom now. They range in color from yellow through all shades of orange to lavender. His fringe tree is in bloom too. This has an odor resembling jasmim and is truly breathtaking.

The Johnsons plan some remodeling and change of design to the front of their house and will have the planters in front filled later.

They both love their home and situation dearly and have every right to be proud of their accomplishment in turning this into one of the beauty spots in town.

Nature Notes Of Yesteryear

By THE LATE W. M. REID

Recently I have been reading some wonderful and interesting books that have cost the authors an immense sum of money to produce, yet they may be had for the asking.

Books brilliant in colors that shame the rainbow. I am referring, of course, to the new seed catalogs.

In them are shown the same flowers of our grandmother's day, yet how different in appearance and coloring. Note the Zinnia, for instance. The "Zeeny" of those far off days.

Then it was only a straggling flower with only a few colors, single in bloom. Today, through the scientific work of plant breeders in selection and hybridization, the bloom may be as large as 6 inches in diameter of various and bewildering shades of colors, growing to a height of 3 or more feet. Or they may be dwarf-like plants, yet as brilliant in coloring as their tall brethren.

Back in those days the petunia was found in nearly every flower garden. But the coloring was tame as compared with today's plant which is produced in vivid colors ranging from pure white through the whole gamut of colors.

And the marigold, then usually single with its strong odor displeasing to many persons. Now exquisite in bulbs cannot be planted.

Oystershell scale hatches the latter part of this month. Watch for it on lilacs. Spray promptly.

Flowering hedges of spiraea, deutzia or lilac should be cut back when the flowering season has passed. Severe cutting is necessary if such hedges are to be kept in good condition.

Rust on hawthorne is easier prevented than controlled. Spray promptly before the spores become imbedded in the leaves. The disease requires two hosts for its life cycle, red cedar and the hawthorns.

coloring ranging from canary yellow to gold and maroon and even the odorless varieties can be secured by those to whom the usual pungent smell is distasteful. Also a new type has been developed that has a definitely sweet fragrance.

The French marigold, heretofore always single, has now been bred to double types. The plant scientists have developed this flower to resemble other forms like the Scabiosa and Dahlia flowers.

Jim Wood Completes 4-Year Track Career At EKU

JIM WOOD

Jimmy Wood, the son of Mrs. Emmett Wood, 390 Walnut Creek Pike, has hung up his track shoes at Kentucky Eastern University.

Wood has completed four years of varsity competition there.

He is the holder of practically every hurdle record in the book at Circleville High School, the South Central Ohio League, a number of high school, invitational and the central district. Wood also holds the Kentucky Eastern record in the 120 yard high hurdles at 14.1 second.

He won the event in the Ohio

Valley Conference track meet with a 14.6 clocking, running into a 14 mile per hour wind.

WOOD was presented the Dash and Hurdles Award at Kentucky Eastern.

Wood's records in the South Central Ohio League are 19.0 in the 180 yard hurdles and 14.9 in the high hurdles. Both were set in 1965 during the league track meet at Greenfield.

The only CHS records he does not hold are the present field records. During Wood's high school career, Circleville did not have a track.

Big Holiday Weekend Set At Major Turf Racing Parks

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

This weekend, why get hot at the beach when you can get hot at the track?

That advertisement in the New York papers on behalf of Aqueduct reflects the tone for the big holiday weekend Friday and Saturday in thoroughbred horse racing.

Judging from similar two-day Memorial Day holiday weekends in the past, it is likely more than 500,000 fans will wager around $60 million at the nation's tracks.

With interest steadily increasing in next week's Belmont Stakes, in which Majestic Prince is expected to try for a sweep of the Triple Crown, the $116,500 Metropolitan Handicap at one mile at Aqueduct and the $137,100 Jersey Derby at Garden State Park headline Friday's card.

Arts and Letters, beaten by a neck and a head by Majestic Prince in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, goes in the Met Mile against older horses in a final prep for the Belmont Stakes. The Paul Mellon 3-year-old will carry only 111 pounds to 129 for the top-weighted Nodouble and 128 for Terrible Tiger.

Trainer Elliot Burch followed the same procedure in 1959 and 1964 when he won the Belmont with Sword Dancer and Quadrangle, respectively. Sword Dancer won the Met, Quadrangle was second to Olden Times.

The Jersey Derby at 1 1/4 miles may produce some entries for the Belmont, especially Calumet Farm's Best Turn. Calumet paid $7,500 as a supplemental fee to make the colt eligible for the Jersey Derby in the hope a good showing would make him a candidate for the Belmont.

Error Costs Pilots Runs

SEATTLE (AP) — The Seattle Pilots lost two runs in the fifth inning of Wednesday night's game against Baltimore when Orioles' Manager Earl Weaver caught them batting out of turn.

Joe Schultz, the Pilots' manager, had Wayne Comer batting in the third position and ommy Davis hitting fourth on his original lineup card.

When Jim Palmer, the Orioles' scheduled starting pitcher, suffered back spasms before the game and was replaced by Dave McNally, Schultz switched his lineup, putting Davis ahead of Comer.

Comer batted in front of Davis in the first inning, and again in the third—without damage to the Orioles—and Weaver let the mistake pass. But when Davis laced a two-run double with two out in the fifth, the Baltimore skipper lodged a protest. The umpires upheld him and Davis became the third out in the inning, nullifying the runs.

Indy 500 Run Figures Given

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Facts and figures of the 53rd 500-mile auto race Friday at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway:

EVENT—200 laps around 2 1/2-mile, asphalt-on-brick track, sanctioned by U.S. Auto Club but open to NASCAR, SCCA, Grand Prix and other drivers through International FIA listing.

START—Noon EDT from flying start. Finish is unofficial until posted at 9 a.m. Saturday.

FIELD—Thirty-three fastest cars in 10-mile qualifications last weekend; three-time winner A.J. Foyt Jr. holds the pole position in a Coyote-Ford with a qualifying speed of 170.568 m.p.h.

RACE RECORD — 3 hours, 16 minutes, 13.76 seconds: 152.832, by Bobby Unser, 1968.

PURSE—Depends on attendance and accessory awards: 1968 payoff was $710,219 of which Unser received $177,523. Prizes will be announced Saturday night.

CROWD—Actual attendance never disclosed. There are 200,000 reserved seats and room for 100,000 more persons in infield.

TELEVISION—MCA closed circuit to 150 locations in United States and Canada; via satellite to Puerto Rico; and by video tape to Central and South America and Japan.

RADIO—Speedway network to 775 stations in the United States and Canada, Voice of America, Armed Forces Radio, Special Spanish language broadcast to Mexico.

MORTALITY—There have been 58 deaths including the pre-500 races of 1909-10; none this year. Total includes 34 drivers, 14 mechanics, 9 spectators and one Speedway guard.

Ted Williams, Billy Martin In Word Duel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ted Williams says he doesn't want to be drawn into controversy with Billy Martin—who denies he said the former hitting master was one of the worst players he ever saw—but Williams feels criticism of his baserunning is unjustified.

The fiery Martin, rookie Minnesota Twins manager, said before and after Wednesday's night game that he was misinterpreted in his comments about Williams, freshman manager of the Washington Senators.

"I think he was the greatest hitter I ever saw, he was without peer," said Martin. "But there's more to playing than just hitting."

Martin said he was asked a question by a newsman Tuesday night about what he, as a second baseman, thought about Williams.

"I said he never did slide into me as long as I was a second baseman," Martin told newsmen. "As a second baseman you expect to be taken out into left field. He used to run out of the baseline."

But Martin, before the game, also said: "Everybody judges players a little different. I judge a player by what he does for his ball club and not what he does for himself. I think the name of the game is self-sacrifice."

Nehru Is Winner At Scioto Downs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nehru went to the outside in the stretch and shot ahead to win the feature race Wednesday night at Scioto Downs, touring the mile in 2:05 1-5.

The winner, owned by H. S. Harris of New Albany, paid $3.40, $3 and $2.60. Debbie's Choice, three lengths back, returned $4.80 and $3.60 while Sarah Ann Scotch showed for $3.40.

The 7-6 daily double combination of Hot Shot Hanover and Junkyard Boy brought $21.60.

Cincinnati Whips Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-6

By MIKE RECHT

May got Cincinnati moving again Wednesday night with a

Pigeon Race Results Told

The first 150 mile old bird race of the Circleville Pigeon Club was held from Lexington, Ky., with 10 lofts and 174 birds competing in the race.

Stan Crosby won first with a speed of 1206.7427 yards per minute while Virgil Russell took second and third with speeds of 1198.3828 and 1173.0502 yards per minute. Larry Collins came in fourth, John Grabins fifth, Haeger Blevins sixth and seventh, Virgil Russell eighth, Stan Crosby ninth and the Iles Loft 10th.

Stan Crosby won nomination bird, loft derby and the trophy.

The second 150 mile race was won by Paul Haddock with a speed of 976.6544 yards per minute. A bird from his loft was also second.

Junior Hoffman placed third, Stan Crosby was fourth, the Iles Loft fifth, sixth and seventh, Homer Kuntz eighth and ninth and Haeger Blevins 10th.

Winning the trophy was Paul Haddock. Iles Loft took the nomination bird and Junior Hoffman the loft derby.

Campbell Cards Low Gross, Net At Lansdowne

Joe List and Leonard Campbell tied for low gross honors during the Men's Golf League at Upper Lansdowne Links Wednesday, both carding even par 36.

Campbell's effort also won low net honors, 31. The Parbustlers, Hookers and 4-Putters tied in the competition last night with 20.

After three weeks of play, the Parbustlers lead the league with 52 points. Members of the team are Gail Leatherwood, Jack Hutchison, Jim Dawson, Dick Robbins.

The Hookers and 4-Putters are tied for second place in the league with 48 points. Rounding out the standings are: Duffers, 39; Bunkers, 30; 3-Putters, 29; Slicers, 24; Sandbaggers, 23; Sandtrappers, 23; Handicappers, 22; Hazards, 13; Whiffers, 9.

record-tying two home runs and then Johnny Bench stole second and Tony Perez home on a delayed double steal in the eighth inning for the winning run in a 7-6 victory over Pittsburgh.

Close on their heels were Wynn and the red-hot Astros.

Wynn's lone homer dropped him one behind May for the National League lead and the Astros only stole second and third on a double steal in the 10th before Doug Rader followed with his second straight game-winning hit as Houston edged Philadelphia 7-6.

Tee Times Set For ABCD Golf Tourney

Tee times for the ABCD Golf Tournament at the Pickaway Country Club on Memorial Day were announced today by Barry Fisher, club pro.

Full handicaps will be used for this team event. The first team tees off at 7:30 a.m. and the final foursome at 9 a.m.

Here are the tee times:

Benvenuti, Tiger Excused By Jury

NEW YORK (AP) — Nino Benvenuti, boxing's middleweight champion, and Dick Tiger, the man who upset him earlier this week, have been excused from further testimony, but a grand jury investigation of boxing goes on.

Both Benvenuti and Tiger were questioned Wednesday in the office of District Attorney Frank Hogan, then appeared before a New York County grand jury.

Houston's victory was its 10th in a row, longest winning streak in the major leagues this season, but it didn't get the fifth place Astros any closer than 1 1/2 games behind fourth place Cincinnati in the West Division as the Reds won the sixth consecutive game.

At the same time, Montreal dropped farther behind everyone when Los Angeles handed the Expos their 12th successive defeat, 6-0.

In other games, the New York Mets ended a five-game losing streak with a 1-0 victory over San Diego in 11 innings, St. Louis bounced Atlanta 6-2 and, in the afternoon, the Chicago Cubs tripped San Francisco 9-3 helped by Randy Hundley's grand slam homer.

May, who hit two homers Saturday night and two more Sunday before two open days, clubbed a solo shot in the fourth inning against the Pirates and added his 14th with a man on in the sixth for a 6-4 lead, making him only the fifth man in history to hit six in three consecutive games.

Pittsburgh tied the game with runs in the seventh and eighth, but Perez opened the Cincinnati eighth with a single. May lined out, but Bench singled Perez to third and then the two pulled off their grand theft.

"There was no trick there," said Manager Dave Bristol. "We called a delayed double steal and it worked. You got to gamble sometimes."

Wynn put the Astros ahead 4-3 in the fifth with his 13th homer, but Johnny Callison's homer in the seventh and Richie Allen's two-run shot in the ninth pulled the Phillies even 6-6.

In the 10th, Joe Morgan walked. Wynn sacrificed and Norm Miller was walked intentionally before Morgan and Miller pulled their double steal. Another intentional walk to Denis Menke before Rader, who hit a grand slam in the ninth to beat the Phillies Tuesday night, rapped his hit, giving the Astros their 19th victory in 23 starts in May.

Tribe In Breather Following 2 Losses

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians take a breather today after two consecutive one-run defeats at the hands of the California Angels. They lost Wednesday night 5-4. The Tribe resumes its first West Coast tour this year Friday with the first of three single games against the Oakland Athletics.

Cincinnati Whips Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-6

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer

No matter how hard Jimmy Wynn hits and how fast the Houston Astros run, they can't seem to catch Lee May and the Cincinnati Reds, who stand one homer, one base and 1 1/2 games ahead.

May got Cincinnati moving again Wednesday night with a

Pigeon Race Results Told

The first 150 mile old bird race of the Circleville Pigeon Club was held from Lexington, Ky., with 10 lofts and 174 birds competing in the race.

Stan Crosby won first with a speed of 1206.7427 yards per minute while Virgil Russell took second and third with speeds of 1198.3828 and 1173.0502 yards per minute. Larry Collins came in fourth, John Grabins fifth, Haeger Blevins sixth and seventh, Virgil Russell eighth, Stan Crosby ninth and the Iles Loft 10th.

Stan Crosby won nomination bird, loft derby and the trophy.

The second 150 mile race was won by Paul Haddox with a speed of 976.6544 yards per minute. A bird from his loft was also second.

Junior Hoffman placed third, Stan Crosby was fourth, the Iles Loft fifth, sixth and seventh, Homer Kuntz eighth and ninth and Haeger Blevins 10th.

Winning the trophy was Paul Haddox. Iles Loft took the nomination bird and Junior Hoffman the loft derby.

Campbell Cards Low Gross, Net At Lansdowne

Joe List and Leonard Campbell tied for low gross honors during the Men's Golf League at Upper Lansdowne Links Wednesday, both carding even par 36.

Campbell's effort also won low net honors, 31. The Parbustlers, Hookers and 4-Putters tied in the competition last night with 20.

After three weeks of play, the Parbustlers lead the league with 52 points. Members of the team are Gail Leatherwood, Jack Hutchison, Jim Dawson, Dick Robbins.

The Hookers and 4-Putters are tied for second place in the league with 48 points. Rounding out the standings are: Duffers, 39; Bunkers, 30; 3-Putters, 29; Slicers, 24; Sandbaggers, 23; Sandtrappers, 23; Handicappers, 22; Hazards, 13; Whiffers, 9.

record-tying two home runs and then Johnny Bench stole second and Tony Perez home on a delayed double steal in the eighth inning for the winning run in a 7-6 victory over Pittsburgh.

Close on their heels were Wynn and the red-hot Astros.

Wynn's lone homer dropped him one behind May for the National League lead and the Astros only stole second and third on a double steal in the 10th before Doug Rader followed with his second straight game-winning hit as Houston edged Philadelphia 7-6.

Tee Times Set For ABCD Golf Tourney

Tee times for the ABCD Golf Tournament at the Pickaway Country Club on Memorial Day were announced today by Barry Fisher, club pro.

Full handicaps will be used for this team event. The first team tees off at 7:30 a.m. and the final foursome at 9 a.m.

Here are the tee times:

7:30 — Snap Ankrom, Lyle Bookman, Roy Huffer, Dallas Elliott, 7:37 — John Vendilinski, Rudy Chelkowski, Ron Kazmierczak, George Brown, 7:45 — Bud Hritz, J. M. Hedges, Win Story, Lem Weldon, 7:52 — Bob McKelvey, W. L. Smith, Harry Sark, Bill Radcliff.

8 — Bill Heiskell, Ben Brian, Jim Stallings, Ron Berlin, 8:07 — Dean MacFadden, Ed Hedges, Bill Camp, Randy Clark, 8:15 — Steve Brudzinski, Wayne Smith, Jim Rae, Joe Smith, 8:22 — Dick Clifton, George Hamrick, Wilmer Muck, Don Stage, 8:30 — Larry MacFadden, Joe Estenson, Lloyd Kittle, Jim McDaniel, 8:37 — Dan Hindy, Lee Cook, John Payne, Chuck Baker, 8:45 — Larry Cordle, Ed Frericks, 8:52 — Gordon Fraser, Luther Ferrel, Bob Adkins, Vern Hawkes, 9 — Bob MacFadden, Speeder Davis, Wendell Christy, Bob Porter.

Benvenuti, Tiger Excused By Jury NEW YORK (AP) — Nino Benvenuti, boxing's middleweight champion, and Dick Tiger, the man who upset him earlier this week, have been excused from further testimony, but a grand jury investigation of boxing goes on.

Both Benvenuti and Tiger were questioned Wednesday in the office of District Attorney Frank Hogan, then appeared before a New York County grand jury.

Houston's victory was its 10th in a row, longest winning streak in the major leagues this season, but it didn't get the fifth place Astros any closer than 1 1/2 games behind fourth place Cincinnati in the West Division as the Reds won the sixth consecutive game.

At the same time, Montreal dropped farther behind everyone when Los Angeles handed the Expos their 12th successive defeat, 6-0.

In other games, the New York Mets ended a five-game losing streak with a 1-0 victory over San Diego in 11 innings, St. Louis bounced Atlanta 6-2 and, in the afternoon, the Chicago Cubs tripped San Francisco 9-8 helped by Randy Hundley's grand slam homer.

May, who hit two homers Saturday night and two more Sunday before two open days, clubbed a solo shot in the fourth inning against the Pirates and added his 14th with a man on in the sixth for a 6-4 lead, making him only the fifth man in history to hit six in three consecutive games.

Pittsburgh tied the game with runs in the seventh and eighth, but Perez opened the Cincinnati eighth with a single, May lined out, but Bench singled Perez to third and then the two pulled off their grand theft.

"There was no trick there," said Manager Dave Bristol. "We called a delayed double steal and it worked. You got to gamble sometimes."

Wynn put the Astros ahead 4-3 in the fifth with his 13th homer, but Johnny Callison's homer in the seventh and Richie Allen's two-run shot in the ninth pulled the Phillies even 6-6.

In the 10th, Joe Morgan walked. Wynn sacrificed and Norm Miller was walked intentionally before Morgan and Miller pulled their double steal. Another intentional walk to Denis Menke before Rader, who hit a grand slam in the ninth to beat the Phillies Tuesday night, rapped his hit, giving the Astros their 19th victory in 23 starts in May.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my parents
Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Valentine sisters, George Brown and Mary
Guthrie, brothers, Harry Hunt,
Lawrence and Emanuel Valentine.
Your memory, to me is a keepsake
with which I'll never part.
Though God has you in his keeping,
I still have you in my heart.
Daughter and Sister Christina

In memory of our grandfather
Chester B. Myers who left us May 29, 1966.
It's hard to lose the ones we love,
To see them pass away.
The sweetest and the kindest gone,
While others are left to stay!
But if we had a garden,
With roses fair and bright,
We'd often pick the loveliest,
And think it to be right.
And so it is with Jesus.
In his earthly garden here,
He often picks the fairest flowers,
The ones we love so dear.
We remember you grandpa and know things would be different if you were still with us.
Randy and Becky

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my parents
Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Valentine, sisters, Georgia Brown and Mary
Guthrie, brothers, Harry Hunt,
Lawrence and Emanuel Valentine.
Your memory, to me is a keepsake
with which I'll never part.
I still have you in my heart.
Daughter and Sister Christina
In memory of our grandfather
Chester B. Myers who left us May 29, 1966.
It's hard to lose the ones we love,
To see them pass away.
The sweetest and the kindest gone,
While others are left to stay!
But if we had a garden,
With roses fair and bright,
We'd often pick the loveliest
And think it to be right.
And so it is with Jesus.
In his earthly garden here,
He often picks the fairest flowers,
The ones we love so dear.
We remember you grandpa and
know things would be different if you were still with us.
Randy and Becky

Hearing Slated In Murder Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — A preliminary hearing is scheduled today in the case of Barbara Shutt, 23, charged with first degree murder in the shooting-burglary of a woman psychiatrist who adopted her six years ago.

Bernard Gilday, her attorney, indicated Wednesday he would attempt to have bond set.

The hearing was continued Tuesday at the request of her attorney.

Dr. Jane Shutt, 43, was shot four times with a .25-caliber pistol and beaten with a poker Sunday morning. The body was found shortly before noon Sunday in the basement office at her home in the Clifton section. She was clad only in a housecoat which was pulled to her shoulders.

Ohio Jaycees Recommend Committee On Ohio Prisons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Jaycees have recommended that a permanent bi-partisan legislative committee be established to investigate grievances within the Ohio penal system.

Edward J. Orlett, chairman of the Jaycees' committee on prison conditions, made the recommendation Wednesday night to the Senate Education, Health and Welfare Committee.

The committee held its first hearing to comply with a Senate-adopted resolution requesting it to investigate internal conditions at the Ohio Penitentiary.

The large hearing room was packed with people who several times cheered the suggestions of Orlett.

The committee chairman, Sen. Oakley C. Collins, R-18 Ironton, did not appear to be enjoying the hearing and several times cut off witnesses and told them to keep it short.

The Jaycees' 14-page report recommended:

—Specialized programs in correctional treatment in Ohio's state universities.

—Making presentencing investigations mandatory in all felony cases.

—Up-to-date educational, training and vocational programs offered to all inmates at night.

—An incentive program involving work-study improvement.

—Abolishing "strip cells" which are now used to keep inmates who show suicidal tendencies. The Jaycees contend inmates have to sit naked in the concrete cells.

—Visits from wives in the prison to cut down on the problem of homosexuality.

When Collins announced that the committee accompanied by the press planned to visit the Ohio Penitentiary at 1 p.m. Monday, Warden Harold J. Cardwell said "I object to that."

He said there has been a standing rule since last summer's riots that the press is not allowed in the prison.

Scorpion Bites Eaton Girl, 13

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A 13-year-old girl bitten by a scorpion was listed in satisfactory condition today at Good Samaritan Hospital here.

The parents of Belinda Ashworth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hayes of nearby Eaton, said the girl was taking a bath Tuesday and the insect came out from under a towel and bit her on the thigh.

The parents could not explain how the insect, found only in warm climates, got into the home. However, a relative reports that Hayes has been fishing several weekends at Cumberland Lake, Ky., and it was believed the scorpion may have been brought back home in his clothes.

Local Woman Suffers Whiplash In Auto Mishap

A Circleville woman was injured when the car she was a passenger in was struck in the rear while preparing to make a left turn off Route 23 near Logan Elm Village.

Mary Jane Watt, 33, of 540 N. Court St., was taken to Berger Hospital for emergency treatment of whiplash to the neck.

Driver of the car, Elizabeth Spires, 38, of 402 E. Main St., was not injured.

The Spires car was northbound on Route 23 in the passing lane about 12:55 p.m. Wednesday when Mrs. Spires slowed to make a left turn into Quality Courts, according to a report by State Highway Patrolman E. J. Keegan.

Following the Spires vehicle in the passing lane was a car driven by Charles Limle, 53, Chillicothe area. The Limle car failed to stop in time and struck the Spires car in the rear, according to the patrolman's report.
